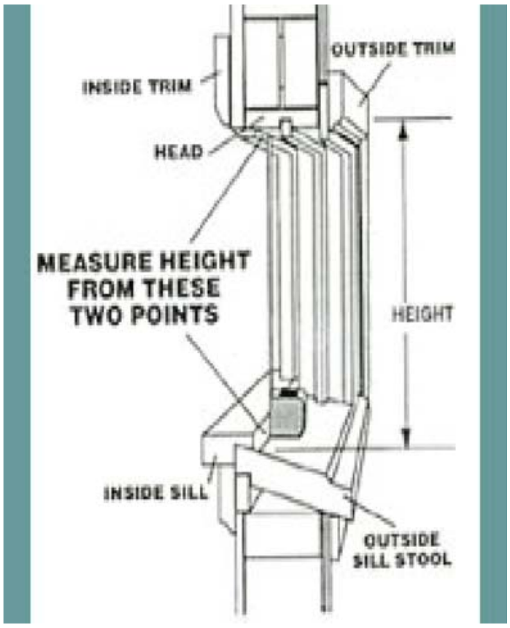
room	width	height	style

HEIGHT: The height of the window is taken from the sill (from the point against the stool) to the header (at the point against the inside stop) as shown. Measure at the left, middle, and right and use the smallest dimension.



WIDTH: This is the measurement that is given first when ordering a window. The width must be measured from jamb to jamb as shown below. Measure at the top, middle, and bottom and use the smallest dimensions.
